

FitChart by PRL Medical Chart Auditing Service

Safeguard Your Charts Against Compliance Risks

Medical records and charts are being audited more frequently by third-party payors. Audits are useful in protecting against fraud allegations and potentially increasing reimbursements. However, performing internal chart audits is complicated and labor-intensive, often requiring hours of staff training, education and audit time. This is where PRL can help.

About FitChart

PRL's FitChart service is a strategic and proactive approach to correcting medical charts and patient records. We determine which kind of audit is appropriate for your practice; a provider-based audit or a service-based audit. Then our team analyzes the results and coordinates with your staff to develop a remediation plan.

FitChart Offerings

PRL offers two types of chart auditing, depending on your medical practice needs. Each auditing process is the same, but the scale of each operation depends on which type of evaluation is best for your practice.

FitChart Service Review

An audit of documentation specific to an individual service rendered by your practice.

FitChart Provider Review

An audit of documentation specific to your healthcare providers.

End-to-End Revenue Cycle Management

Our internal auditing is a fast, practical, and affordable way to prepare your practice for third-party audits. The big difference is that we have a full staff dedicated to your practice or team of providers. PRL's FitChart team is here to help you resolve your documentation errors and to assist your staff in record-keeping best practices.

PRL's process ensures your chart audit is performed in an efficient and timely manner. We require a random sampling of 5-10 charts. Our team will then review your charts to verify that they are in compliance and reported appropriately.

This process includes:

1. Confirm if the services reported are supported by the documentation.
2. Reviewing findings with the client.
3. Assisting in the remediation of documentation deficiencies.

To get started, contact our coding team to schedule an initial evaluation meeting. This initial 20 minute call will review goals, needs and focus. Next, send us your denial charts, our team of specialists will analyze your charts and create a detailed report. Then we can schedule a web meeting to review our findings and discuss ways to remediate any issues we discover.

Leading With Experience

Pam Altner, CPC, CPMA, COSC

PRL Director of Coding, Compliance, and Education

Pam oversees coding and the compliance operations for all of our partner practices. She has trained a team of highly skilled coding professionals who have a keen understanding of coding and billing regulations, compliance rules, and chart auditing. She has multiple certifications in coding and auditing, including surgical specialties.

About PRL

PRL is a leading provider of advanced RCM services that deliver transformative revenue solutions for physician practices, hospitalist organizations and healthcare businesses. With advanced RCM technology and extensive healthcare experience, we solve the most daunting RevCycle challenges facing healthcare organizations today. Our proven compliant solutions provide the foundation for accurate care reimbursement, reduced operating costs and a better experience for patients.